Carol Mason Spicer, Ph.D.
Editor, Kennedy Institute of Ethics Journal

Carol Mason Spicer, Ph.D., has been with the Kennedy Institute of Ethics Journal since its inception in 1991 and became Editor in 1993. She received her A.B. in Religion from Dartmouth College and her Ph.D. in Philosophy and Bioethics from Georgetown University. Her areas of special interest include religious ethics, death and dying, and moral status.

Dr. Spicer is a member of the editorial board of the Cambridge Dictionary of Bioethics. She is a coeditor of Procuring Organs for Transplant and editor of the “Appendix: Codes, Oaths, and Directives Related to Bioethics” in the Encyclopedia of Bioethics, Revised Edition. 